

1. Interviewed a couple of people who were software engineers who were resources on projects I managed in the future – 3 resources.
2. One of the resources thought I should not transition from PMing to software engineering as most leave engineering to go toward PMing.
3. I also interviewed a friend of mine who is a software engineer director at a major bank in New York. He was explaining to me the process they go through to hire new software engineers. He told me to call him when I finish the program.
4. Also spoke to another friend who is a senior Data Analytics expert and SQL expert. He was one of the ones who was encouraging me to get into Data Analytics.
